(2) A safety recommendation must not create a presumption of blame or liability for an accident or incident.

(3) Without prejudice to the investigation or publication of the final report, at any stage of an investigation of an accident or incident, the Chief Inspector may recommend in a dated communication to the appropriate authorities, including those in other States and where appropriate ICAO, any preventative action that the Chief Inspector considers necessary to be taken promptly to enhance aviation safety, and must record the responses.

(4) The addressee of a safety recommendation pursuant to subregulations (1) and (3) must —

(a) acknowledge receipt of the communication;

(b) consider the safety recommendation and, where it considers to be appropriate, act upon it;
and

(c) send to the Chief Inspector within 90 days of the communication one of the following —

(i) full details of the measures, if any, it has taken or proposes to take to implement the recommendation without delay and, where it proposes to implement measures, the timetable for securing that implementation; or

(ii) a full explanation as to why the recommendation is not to be the subject of measures to be taken to implement it; and

(d) give written notice to the Chief Inspector where at any time information provided to the Chief Inspector under subregulation (c)(i), concerning the measures it proposes to take or the timetable for securing their implementation, is rendered inaccurate by any change of circumstances.

15. Reopening of investigation

(1) If after an investigation has been closed new and significant evidence becomes available, or if the Chief Inspector considers it appropriate, the Chief Inspector may cause the investigation of an accident or incident to be reopened.

(2) An investigation that is reopened must be subject to and conducted in accordance with these Regulations.

16. Participation in an investigation - accredited representatives, advisers and experts

(3) When an investigation is being carried under regulation 8 the Chief Inspector must invite to participate in the investigation—

(a) the air operator, when neither the State of Registry nor the State of the Operator appoints an accredited representative;

(b) the organisations responsible for the type design and final assembly of the aircraft, when neither the State of Design nor the State of Manufacture appoints accredited representatives.

- (3) A person who receives information from an Investigator, must not cause or permit that information or any part of it to be disclosed, without the prior written consent of the Chief Inspector, to any other person, body or organisation before it is made publicly available by the Chief Inspector (on publication of the final investigation report or otherwise).
- (4) A person who knowingly provides false or misleading information to an Investigator in connection with an investigation contravenes these Regulations.
- (5) A person must not circulate, publish or give access to a draft report or any part thereof, or any documents obtained during an investigation of an accident or incident conducted by another State without the consent of that State, unless such reports or documents have been released by that State.

18. Non-Disclosure of relevant records

(1) Subject to subregulations (3), (4), (5) and (6), a relevant record must not be made available by the AAIB or any member of its staff to any person for purposes other than an accident or incident investigation conducted under these Regulations.

(2) The records listed in subregulation (8) must be included in the final report or its appendices only when pertinent to the analysis of the accident or incident and parts of the records not relevant to the analysis must not be disclosed.

(3) The names of persons involved in an accident or incident must not be disclosed to the public by the AAIB.

(4) Nothing in subregulation (1) prevents the Chief Inspector from making a relevant record available to any other person where —

(a) in a case where the other person is a party to or otherwise entitled to appear at judicial proceedings, the relevant court has ordered that the relevant record must be made available to that person for the purpose of those proceedings; or

(b) in any other circumstances when the relevant court has ordered that the relevant record must be made available for any other purpose.

(5) Subject to subregulation (6), no order may be made under subregulation (4) unless the relevant court is satisfied that on balance the interests of justice outweigh the adverse domestic and international impact which disclosure may have on the investigation to which the record relates or on any future safety investigation.

(6) A relevant record or part thereof must not be treated as having been made available contrary to subregulation (1) in any case where that record or part is included in the final report or the appendices to the final report, or included in a notice served under regulation 12.

(7) The provisions of this regulation apply without prejudice to any rule of law which authorises or requires the withholding of any relevant record on the ground that the disclosure of it would not be in the public interest.

(8) In this regulation —

“airborne image recording” means any image recording on a device fitted to an aircraft for the purposes of accident and incident investigation;

“judicial proceedings” includes any proceedings before a court, tribunal or person having by law power to hear, receive and examine evidence on oath;

19. Release of evidence to owner

(1) This regulation applies where an aircraft, its contents or wreckage (“property”) is held by the AAIB in a hangar or other facility which is being used by the AAIB for the purposes of an investigation.

(2) Subject to subregulation (5), where any property is no longer required for the purposes of the investigation the Chief Inspector must inform the owner of the property, by notice in writing, that it will be released to the owner at the place and on the date specified in the notice and in accordance with any other arrangements specified in the notice.

(3) An owner on whom a notice has been served under subregulation (2), or the owner’s representatives, must collect the property in accordance with the arrangements specified in the notice (or in accordance with alternative arrangements that the owner has agreed in writing with the Chief Inspector), failing which —

- (a) the Chief Inspector may make arrangements for the destruction or disposal of the property; and
- (b) the reasonable costs of such destruction or disposal must be recoverable from the owner.

(4) A notice served under subregulation (2) —

(a) must not specify a date for collection of the property earlier than one month beginning with the date upon which the notice was served; and

(b) must include a warning that failure by the owner to collect the property by the date specified in the notice (or such other date that the owner agrees in writing with the Chief Inspector) will entitle the Chief Inspector to arrange for the destruction or disposal of the property and the reasonable costs of such destruction or disposal will be recoverable from the owner.

(5) Where any property referred to in subregulation (1) is no longer required for the purposes of an investigation and the Chief Inspector is satisfied that a person, body or authority (other than the owner) is entitled (under statutory or common law powers that apply in the Falkland Islands) to collect that property for the purposes of another investigation and has confirmed their intention to do so —

(a) subregulation (2) does not apply to that property; and

(b) the Chief Inspector must release it to that person, body or authority and inform the owner of the property, by notice in writing, that it has been so released.

(6) In this regulation “owner” means, in relation to an aircraft which is registered, the registered owner of the aircraft or, if the owner is deceased, the owner’s personal representatives.

20. Service of notices and other documents

(1) A notice or other document required or authorised by these Regulations to be served on a person may be served by —

(a) delivering it to that person in person;

(b) leaving it at that person’s proper address; or

(c) sending it by post or by electronic means to that person’s proper address.

(2) In the case of a body corporate, a notice or document may be served on a director of that body or on any other office or employee of that body (“authorised person”) who is authorised to accept service of such notices or documents on its behalf.

(3) For the purposes of this regulation, “proper address” means —

(a) in the case of a body corporate or its director or authorised person —

(i) the registered or principal office of that body; or

(ii) the email address of the secretary or clerk of that body, the director or the authorised person;

(b) in any other case a person's last known address, which includes an email address.

21. Revocation

(1) The Civil Aviation (Investigation of Air Accidents and Incidents) Regulations 2016 are revoked.

(2) An investigation commenced under the Regulations revoked by subregulation (1), which has not been completed, must continue as if it had been commenced under these Regulations.

EXPLANATORY NOTE (not part of the regulations)

These Regulations are made under section 75(1) of the Civil Aviation Act 1982 as extended to the Falkland Islands by article 4 of the Civil Aviation Act 1982 (Overseas Territories) Order 2001 (SI 2001/1452). The Regulations will revoke and replace the Civil Aviation (Investigation of Air Accidents and Incidents) Regulations 2016.

Many of the revisions made under these Regulations are intended to comply with changes introduced by Annex 13 (11th Edition, July 2016) of the Chicago Convention on International Civil Aviation and ICAO State Letter dated 1 April 2018 that proposes further amendments to take effect from November 2018. Since the last ICAO audit of the UK in 2009 a significant number of amendments have been made to Annex 13 and the revised 11th edition was published by ICAO in July 2016. This edition is to be further amended in November 2018 in accordance with the ICAO State Letter dated 1 April 2018, which detailed the proposed amendments and the reasons therefor.

Since the ICAO audit of 2009, there have been significant developments within the UK and its Overseas Territories (OT); it has now been formally recognised by the UK that the AAIB is the “accident investigation authority” for the OTs, as required by Standard 3.2 to Annex 13. This position is now reflected in these Regulations.

As the AAIB is now formally recognised as the accident investigation authority for the OTs, the revisions reflected in these Regulations also take account (so far as is considered necessary) of the UK Civil Aviation (Investigation of Air Accidents and Incidents) Regulations 2018 (SI 2018 No. 321) – which, inter alia, adopt EU Regulation 996/2010; the provisions of which have not been taken into account.

The following revisions reflected in these Regulations should be noted in particular —

1. Regulation 8(4) provides for the AAIB to investigate an incident other than a serious incident where the AAIB expects to draw safety lessons from it in the interests of accident and incident prevention. This is to satisfy the proposed Amendment to Standard 4.1 to Annex 13.

2. In addition regulation 8(5) provides for the AAIB to investigate an accident occurring in the Falkland Islands to an aircraft involved in military, customs, police or similar activities. This corresponds with a similar provision in the UK regulations.
3. Regulation 8(1) provides for the designation of the AAIB as the accident investigation authority as required by Standard 3.2 to Annex 13.
4. Bearing in mind the remoteness of the AAIB from the site of any accident occurring in an OT, regulation 8(10) makes provision for the nomination in the Falkland Islands of some person or body to facilitate the securing the wreckage and other evidence pending the arrival on site of an AAIB Investigator.
5. Regulation 8(13) provides for the authorities in the Falkland Islands to render assistance to aircraft accident victims and families as required in answer to Protocol Question 6.383 and ICAO Manual on Assistance to Aircraft Accident Victims and their Families (Doc 9973). In practice, this obligation is placed primarily on the operator of a Commercial Air Transport aircraft.
6. Regulation 10 provides that the AAIB must have independence in, and unrestricted authority over, the conduct of an investigation as required by Standard 5.4 to Annex 13; but is required to coordinate any investigation, to the extent necessary, with any investigation conducted by the judicial authorities, as required by Standard 5.10 to Annex 13.
7. Regulation 13(2) relating to delay in publication of the final report of an accident is intended to satisfy Standard 6.6 to Annex 13.
8. Regulation 17 collects together offences and contraventions of the regulations; for which the penalty is a fine of up to £1,000 or imprisonment up to 3 months (as prescribed by section 75(5) of the Civil Aviation Act 1982 in its application to the Falkland Islands).
9. Regulation 19 makes provision for release, or disposal, of the aircraft, its wreckage and contents to the owner of the aircraft on completion of an investigation; and for recovery of the costs of such release or disposal from the owner.
